Community, Policing and Race

Following the Philando Castile shooting in a neighboring community, several residents asked if such an event could happen in Roseville. The gathering will start with a panel of Roseville residents sharing their reaction to the shooting. Police Chief Rick Mathwig will then present information about Roseville's police policies before attendees are invited to discuss their reactions during a small group breakout session. The event will close with a Q & A session with the panel and City representatives.
