123

124 Commissioner Arneson inquired about the frog pond fountain and if there had been a debris cage
125 added. Staff responded that materials for a new cage that will filter better was delivered late in the 126 season last year and that it will be added this spring.

127

128 Commissioner Lenhart asked what type of engagement would be included with the work planned for 129 Pocahontas Park. Also, she suggested the addition of more natural play spaces at the park. Staff
130 relayed that updating the playground at Pocahontas Park is anticipated in the next few years based on 131 the age of equipment and previous surveys. Adding that all playgrounds in the city are inspected
132 quarterly and provided a rating score which is tracked and monitored. Once a playground is
133 identified as needing to be replaced, the community is engaged as part of the Parks and Recreation
134 Community Engagement Plan and together with the community a replacement plan for the structure
135 is made.

136

137 Commissioner Lenhart mentioned the age of some of the equipment that is located at Pocahontas
138 Park and that it may be good to get the communities opinion on the older equipment when 139 undergoing upcoming community engagement.

140

141 Chair Hoag noted how much some residents are attached to “classic playground equipment” like the 142 Central Park Rocket Ship or merry-go-rounds that are located throughout the city.

143

144 Commissioner Stoner asked about the changes to recycling in the parks. Staff responded that the 145 biggest change has been the recycling company calling to say that certain park barrels have been 146 contaminated with trash. When that happens that whole barrel has to be dumped into the trash and 147 can’t be recycled. Even with the contamination issues happening more frequently staff still feels that 148 recycling in the parks is a worthwhile program.

149

150 Commissioner Stoner also asked about the entrance sign at HANC and if the signs that were 151 previously shown to the Commission are still the starting point for the future sign. Staff responded
152 that the previous designs are still the starting point for the future HANC signs.

154 5) FOLLOW UP TO JOINT MEETING WITH THE CITY COUNCIL

155 Chair Hoag relayed that a City Council member reached out to him after the joint meeting to say
156 they were very supportive of the initiatives that the Commission brought forward.

158 Commissioner Baggenstoss noted that he was very proud of Youth Commissioner Kim for what a
159 great job he did presenting before the City Council and also for bringing the idea to the Commission 160 originally.

161 The Commission discussed the City Council’s response to the Pocahontas Park name discussion
162 including their discussed support of potentially changing the Park Naming Policy.

163
164 Commissioner O’Brien added that she was impressed with the Emerald Ash Borer (EAB)
165 presentation. She reiterated that the Commission has diligently kept the item before the City Council
166 for years. However, she was now potentially seeing more urgency behind the issues with the City
167 Council as a council member made the comment that the “trees were dying and need to come down”.

168
169 The Commission discussed EAB and how to relay the urgency of the dying trees to ensure they 170 don’t become a safety hazard and that Roseville’s canopy is not decimated.

171
172 Commissioner Arneson noted that the City Council had brought up the topic of if there was another
173 way to trigger Park Dedication.

174
175 Commissioner Baggenstoss added that the Commission had previously discussed potential ways to 176 capture Park Dedication. Therefore, he feels the Commission should look further into this topic.

177
178 Staff provided potential next steps for the Pocahontas Park name discussion, including:

179
180 March 2 – Invite another Guest or Two

- 181 - Member of the Dakota Tribe
- 182 - Native Governance Center Rep
- 183 - Minnesota Historical Society
- 184 - Compile info heard through members of the public
- 185 - Review proposed web page
- 186 - Other

187 April 6 – Discussion/Prepare for Listening Session

- 188 - Develop language for invitation(s) for listening session
- 189 - Confirm who will be invited
- 190 - Confirm format of listening session

191 May 4 – Listening Session

192 June 1 – Discussion

- 193 - Naming Policy
- 194 - Recommendation

195
196 Chair Hoag noted that he would appreciate hearing from a couple more local experts before making
197 a recommendation.

198
199 Commissioner Arneson agreed with Chair Hoag on hearing from additional experts. He also 200 reminded the Commission that at the meeting with the City Council it was mentioned that the 201

202 Dakota do not name things after people. He acknowledged that this made him start to think about
203 what the Dakota name would be for “rose” or some other meaningful word to the area.

204
205 The Commission discussed options for outreach to the indigenous and larger community.

206
207 Commissioner Stoner conveyed that he feels the Commission should try to follow the Park Naming
208 Policy, rather than change it, as it has a lot of latitude for options and it was created as a guiding tool
209 to ensure consistency for the park names in Roseville.

210
211 Commissioner Lenhart communicated that she feels the Pocahontas Park timeline may be ambitious
212 and she would prefer additional community engagement. She also inquired if the new Diversity,
213 Equity and Inclusion Consultant that the city is working with could help to manage the listening
214 sessions, write the invitations or help to create a survey to gather additional feedback. Finally, she
215 reiterated that she would be interested in understanding the history of the vegetation and land uses
216 for the Pocahontas Park area.

217
218 Youth Commissioner Kim questioned how difficult it may be to create a survey that could be
219 distributed by local native groups as an additional way to gather feedback.

220
221 Chair Hoag suggested that Pocahontas Park be one of the DYP locations this year.

222
223 Commissioner Brown added that the idea of a dual name both in English and Dakota might be an 224 interesting way to go about naming the park.

225
226 Commissioner Baggenstoss expressed that he feels that the Commission is doing a lot of talking
227 when they need to do a lot of listening. He feels the first step is to listen to culture bearers and 228 leaders and to let them guide the Commission. He added that past systems have been setup to 229 propagate whiteness and that previous actions may feel comfortable. However, it may not be
230 comfortable or easy for the groups that the Commission is trying to invite into the civic process.
231 Finally, he offered that the Unity Park process was successful because the outreach met the target
232 community where they were, rather than asking them to drive somewhere or fill out a survey.

233
234 Staff shared that they will be working with the Administration and Finance Departments to
235 understand financial opportunities for EAB in order to bring funding options before the City Council
236 in the next few months. Staff will also be researching costs for pickleball, potential triggers for Park
237 Dedication and inoculation options for the deer herd. Additional information on these topics will be 238 brought to the Commission in subsequent meetings.

240 Commissioner O'Brien questioned where Roseville currently stands on the deer reduction program.
241 Staff responded that 23 deer have been removed over 5 nights (13 in the Reservoir Woods Park area 242 and 11 in the Owasso Hills Park area).

243
244 Commissioner Lenhart asked what the buck vs. doe count has been for the reduction program. Staff
245 responded that there have been 9 with antlers and 14 antlerless removed.

246
247 Staff thanked the Commission for sharing their knowledge and taking the time to represent the Parks
248 and Recreation Commission before the City Council.

She also asked for any updates on summer camps. Staff responded that they are anticipating the conditions may be improved this summer with operations more close to normal, based on the recent positive vaccine news.

320 Chair Hoag asked for a quick snapshot on what may be on next month's agenda. Staff advised that
