

City of Roseville 2020 Year-End Recycling Report

Roseville's recycling program continues to be a leader in the country. Outreach and education elements of the program are an important part to ensuring good participation and helping residents understand the benefits of recycling. Participation continues to be at or among the highest in Ramsey County at 96%. Despite the continued lightening of packaging, the tons of recycling collected in Roseville in 2020 stayed steady with only a small decrease. Roseville residents demonstrate a genuine desire to support the program, understand what can truly be recycled, and recycle as much as possible.

In the current recycling climate, it is even more critical to work to keep Roseville's recycling clean and free of contamination, which is one of the reasons Eureka Recycling decided to launch a recycling app in 2017. By working with a company called ReCollect, we launched a recycling app that Roseville residents can use online at eurekarecycling.org or can download to their mobile device for free by searching for "Eureka Recycling" in their app store. The app allows residents to look up individual items to find out if they are accepted in their recycling program or not, and can also be connected to Ramsey County listings and resources for guidance in handling hard to recycle items like electronics, scrap metal, and appliances. The app also allows residents to see their recycling schedule and sign up for reminders to support their participation in Roseville's recycling program.

In 2020 we saw a continued increase in the number of Roseville residents using the app. Overall, 1,701 unique Roseville addresses have been searched through the app, and 4,734 materials have been looked up to see if they can be recycled. There are currently 639 Roseville residents signed up for recycling day reminders, with 64% of those residents being signed up through a mobile app and the rest being signed up for email, text, or phone call reminders. We look forward to working with the City to further promote this new app and expand on this success.

This year-end report contains information on several areas that Eureka Recycling tracks to monitor the success of Roseville's zero waste recycling program over the course of each year. As a non-profit social enterprise we believe tracking and reporting this data is an essential way to ensure program transparency. It also gives Eureka Recycling and city staff the tools needed to successfully manage the program.

ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS SUMMARY

The environmental benefits of Roseville’s zero-waste recycling program are quantified transparently using a widely-accepted environmental model. This ensures that all residents have a chance to see how their efforts can be measured and quantified. There are many ways to calculate the benefits of recycling. To better explain these benefits in commonly understood terms government agencies, research scientists, and economists have created several “calculators” to translate the amounts of recycled materials collected, and processed into equivalent positive societal and environmental benefits.

Because of the increasing societal focus on both the causes of and the solutions to climate change, it has become imperative to measure waste reduction (and all of our activities) in terms of its impact on the environment. This allows us to speak in a common language, understand the impact of our choices, and help us prioritize the personal and policy actions that we take. In addition to climate change mitigation, there are other environmental benefits to recycling, including saving energy, protecting air quality, water quality, natural resources, natural beauty, habitat, and human health.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) WARM Calculator

The equations used in environmental calculations try to take into account the “full life cycle” of each material—everything from off-setting the demand for more virgin materials (tree harvesting, mining, etc.) to preventing the pollution that would have occurred if that material were disposed of (burned or buried). Different calculators may include some or all of the many factors that contribute to the “full life cycle” so results will vary from calculator to calculator.

While there are many models emerging to calculate greenhouse gas reductions, the most recognized, and standard model is the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency’s Waste Reduction Model (WARM). WARM was designed to help solid waste planners and organizations track and voluntarily report greenhouse gas emissions reductions from several different waste management practices.

MTCO₂E (Metric tons of carbon dioxide emissions) are figures commonly used when discussing greenhouse gas emissions.

According to the WARM model, Roseville's recycling activities in 2020 reduced greenhouse gas emissions by 6,930 MTCO₂E (metric tons of carbon dioxide equivalent).

What do all these numbers mean?

In addition to preventing pollution, an important impact of recycling is that it conserves a huge amount of energy. Making products and packaging from raw materials harvested from nature uses a much larger amount of energy than using recycled materials. Every manufactured item has the energy used to make it "embedded" into it. Recycling takes advantage of that energy, as it is easier and more energy efficient to make a glass bottle from another glass bottle than from raw materials.

The WARM model and other calculators measure the difference between recycling all these tons of materials and using them to make new products versus sending them to an incinerator and making replacement products from raw materials. This difference is expressed as the amount of CO₂ that was not produced because we did not have to make and use all the energy that would have been needed if we used raw materials.

The numbers above help municipalities calculate and track their environmental footprint. For more information about the process of measuring the environmental benefits of waste reduction, visit <https://www.epa.gov/warm>.

These numbers, however, don't have much meaning to the average person. To help recyclers understand the significance of their actions, the EPA has also developed tools to translate these numbers into equivalent examples that people can more easily understand.

- For example, using the figures above, the EPA estimates that Roseville would have had to remove 1,507 cars from the road for one year to have had the same environmental impact in 2019 as they did by recycling.
- Another way to look at it is that the residents of Roseville saved an amount of energy equivalent to 283,296 propane cylinders for backyard barbeques.

Although WARM is the most widely peer-reviewed and accepted model, it is considered to have several flaws. Many believe the use of this calculator is conservative, and understates the real impact of waste reduction efforts, but it offers a conservative starting place to measure our impacts and work towards our goals. Even with these conservative calculations, the impacts of Roseville's recycling program prove to be quite significant.

Eureka Recycling drivers educate residents at the curb using educational tags for specific problems. In 2020, drivers left approximately 1,603 educational tags on recyclers' carts.

The most common reason residents received a tag in 2020 were:

1. Contamination, including plastic bags, bulky plastic items, and other miscellaneous non-recyclable items.
2. Repeatedly having excess recycling placed next to cart while having a small or medium sized cart. The tag recommended that the resident call the hotline to request a larger, or even a second cart.
3. Cardboard not been broken down to a size that will fit in the cart. To collect extra cardboard the driver tips the cart and then puts the extra cardboard into the cart and tips it again. Cardboard too big for the cart is difficult for the driver to collect.

Amount stored, by recyclable material

No recyclables have been stored at our facility longer than needed to generate quantities to ship.

The markets generally used for the sale of recyclables

Eureka Recycling continues to use the same markets for recyclables as were noted in the RFP. Eureka Recycling has always prioritized supporting local markets. In 2020 82% of the material we processed was sent to an end market within Minnesota, 93% was sold to an end market in the Midwest, and 100% of our materials stayed within North America.

Parks Recycling

We provided service to a total of 23 Roseville Parks in 2019, with most of them being serviced as part of our regular routes collecting from multifamily or single family homes.

As agreed, we separately tracked tonnage for the 37 carts located in Central Park Lexington and Central Park Victoria West at the pavilions, near the ballfields, and along the pathways. The tonnage for these two parks is listed below.

Please note that park carts were delivered later than usual in 2020 due to the impacts of the COVID-19 Pandemic.

Participation Trend Study Report

Over the past few years, Eureka Recycling has transitioned away from doing participation studies by hand-counting the number of carts that are out in several 200 household areas throughout each city, and replacing that study with a citywide, digital participation study using data from our digital routing system.

The study spans six weeks. Each time the truck tips a cart, that collection is recorded for that specific address. This data allows us to analyze all collection during a specific study period. The percentage of all addresses in each day's routes that register a tip in a given week is recorded as that week's set out rate, which is then averaged over the course of the study to calculate the city's set out rate.

The reports for each collection day are then sorted by address and duplicates are removed for households that set out more than once during the study period or who have more than one cart. The remaining list of addresses represents all households that participated in recycling at least once during the study, to arrive at the participation rate for the city.

There are some important things to remember when looking at this participation study data:

- For both digital and hand count data, the data is based on a "per building" or "per address" basis. If a cart is out at a duplex or a triplex, we count that address as participating on that day, and if there is not a cart out we count the address as not participating. There is no way for us to know which units are using the cart or carts that are set out. Similarly, for a single family home with two carts, we still count them as one participating address regardless of how many carts are out for collection.
- The "set out rate" is calculated by counting the number of addresses that set out a cart on each collection day, and taking the average of the number of carts set out each day during the six week study period.
- The "Participation Rate" is calculated by counting the percentage of unique addresses that participated in the program at least once during the six week study period.

Recycling Market Outlook for 2021

2020 started out as a difficult year for the sale of recyclable materials but for most materials, prices increased as a result of the pandemic. While still recovering from the impacts of China's National Sword policy to reduce paper and cardboard imports, there was a lot of uncertainty around how COVID19 would impact the global and national recycling infrastructure and supply chains as it spread from country to country in the first quarter of 2020. However, the need for recyclable materials to support essential infrastructure around food packaging and shipping drove prices up, in some cases to the highest level they've been in years. Most industry experts expect this to continue in 2021, though the cost of shipping and impacts of new tariffs can have negative impacts.

Trucking also continues to affect pricing negatively as the increase demand for shipping in response to the pandemic combined with an ongoing shortage of drivers has made moving recyclables around the country more difficult. This is increasing the cost of transportation, which can negatively affect pricing – especially for materials that are shipped out of state such as PET, steel and aluminum.

Eureka Recycling continues to have good relationships with our end markets and was able to move all our material in 2020. We have at least three markets interested in each material except for glass and regularly get positive comments regarding the quality of the recyclables we sell (including glass). Additionally, we continue to focus on local markets when possible – in 2020, 82 percent of the material we processed stayed in Minnesota, 93 percent in the Midwest, and 100 percent stayed in North America. These business practices have been in place for years and are a reflection of our values around the environmental, economic, and human impacts of recycling, and we have seen the benefit of these relationships even more than usual in the current market environment.

Paper Markets: The building of US recycling infrastructure in response to China's policies actually helped the industry weather the pandemic as more local paper mills had expanded capacity or come on line in reaction to National sword. As people began to shelter in place as COVID 19 cases grew, there was significant increase in demand for recycled fiber material to create paper food boxes (such as for cereal and crackers) as well as cardboard shipping boxes (to deliver all the goods people ordered online). Although there was some fluctuation throughout the year, overall, the demand stayed strong and by the end of the year paper prices were the highest they've been in over 3 years.

Plastics markets were a little more volatile and varied significantly by material type. Demand for PET bottles softened significantly due to COVID. Prior to the pandemic, about 30% of PET was recycled into carpet and with the building industry on hold, that market stopped buying in the spring and stayed out of the market the entire summer. In addition, labor shortages and fire damage impacted production at several other PET markets driving the price for this material to lows not seen in five years. Towards the end of the year, the PET markets seemed to be recovering and many people predict that 2021 will be a strong year for this material as more and more water and soda bottling companies responding to pressure to increase the amount of recycled PET content used in their containers. Eureka has been engaged with several brands directly about how to connect their corporate commitments to the actual supply chain to realize the flow of PET bottles back into PET bottles.

HDPE Color followed a similar trend as PET but the sale of this material is more reliant on the agriculture industry, as much of this material gets made into drainage tile and piping for farms. When there is significant uncertainty (such as due to a pandemic or concerns about ability to trade agricultural products to other countries) farmers tend not to invest in new irrigation infrastructure, which can negatively impact the HDPE Color markets. HDPE Natural is the same type of plastic as HDPE Color, but because it has no coloring added it is a more versatile product and can be turned into any type of product. Once colorant is added you can only recycle it into darker products. HDPE Natural prices reached record highs this year, and became even more valuable per pound than aluminum. This was primarily due to an increase of demand from brands to meet their recycled content commitments. Because of this, most of Eureka Recycling's Natural HDPE is made back into bottles. Although there can typically be a decrease over winter months, we expect the high price of Natural to continue into 2021.

The third type of plastics we sort, polypropylene (PP, #5) started out 2020 similarly weak as other plastics but in the fall of 2020 started gaining momentum and towards the end of 2020 reached the highest price it has been in five years. Similar to HDPE Natural, brand demand for this material has driven the price up and it sounds like demand will stay strong in 2021. The high prices for HDPE and PP helped offset the low prices seen this summer for PET.

Metals markets were more negatively impacted by the pandemic than the plastics markets. Although the demand for aluminum cans increased significantly when bars closed down and people were consuming more beverages at home, the aluminum can industry was not prepared or able to meet this demand so many small brewers and other beverage makers had a difficult time sourcing cans to contain their product. Additionally, the auto industry shut down at the beginning of the pandemic and although it was only down for a short while, that still had a negative impact on both aluminum and steel prices. Lastly, infrastructure building cut back significantly (building of new houses as well as roads and bridges) which also negatively impacted the steel market. Lastly, China quickly recovered from the pandemic so was able to continue selling steel in the global market place, which has depressed this commodity pricing for years. Although steel has seen a small increase towards the end of 2020, no one is optimistic about it holding through this year. Aluminum pricing has slowly been inching up (but only back to where it was at the start of 2020). The industry is optimistic that prices will continue to rise as the demand for beverage cans doesn't seem to be abating and more can manufacturing plants are scheduled to come online by the end of 2021 to meet this demand. It should be noted that the increase in aluminum is likely only partially due to COVID-19. Previous to the pandemic there was already a trend away from glass and plastic bottles towards cans. That combined with the increase in sales for canned sparkling waters (such as LaCroix) has been driving a slow but steady increase in the amount of aluminum cans in the recycling for the last several years.

Log of Contamination Reported by Drivers in Roseville: 2020

This is a log of addresses where drivers have reported contamination in the recycling carts in addition to tagging. Our GPS based data is accurate enough to allow us to look for trends on a neighborhood-basis, but does not always record data on precisely the correct house, depending on the relationship between where the real cart is actually placed and how close that is to the expected collection site stored in the system. It is not uncommon for data to be assigned to a neighboring house, which does not impact our customer relations team's ability to use this information to help resolve issues when residents call, but does mean that we do not send postcards based on a single report of contamination. We do monitor this data to look for trends over time, and where drivers are reporting repeat contamination issues we work with the driver to verify the actual address before sending educational information by mail.

Eureka Recycling Composition Analysis Methodology

Eureka Recycling collects materials in a single sort collection system with all paper, cardboard, metal and plastic, steel, aluminum and glass containers combined by residents into one cart. Each year we conduct an annual composition study of the single sort material to determine the percentage each material represents in the overall composition.

(651) 222-SORT (7678)

Our mission is to reduce waste today through innovative resource management and to reach a waste-free tomorrow by demonstrating that waste is preventable, not inevitable.

Composition by Commodity of Each Recycling Stream

During the composition study we weigh each truck before and after to determine the weight of the material. Each truck has a stored weight that is updated regularly for accuracy. This process allows us to determine the initial weight of the material set out by residents during the period being analyzed.

The composition study starts with Eureka Recycling storing all of the materials collected in the city during a one-week period. These materials are stored in a separate bunker from all other materials at the facility. We sort the material separately from all other recycling at the facility.

The sorted materials are then baled or put into a hopper and transported with a forklift to the truck scale to be weighed. Finally, we weigh the total amount of each sorted material grade including the non-recyclable material (residual) to establish the percentage of the total tonnage that each material type represents in the overall composition.

Participation Trend Analysis Methodology

Eureka Recycling conducts an annual participation study in which both set-out and participation rates are analyzed and documented.

(651) 222-SORT (7678)
www.eurekarecycling.org

The set-out rate is the average number of households that set materials out for recycling collection on a given day. Not every household sets out their recycling each week. If they are out of town, forget, or simply don't have very much in their cart they may not have a cart out for collection on their day. The set-out rate is the average percentage of households that set out material on a weekly basis during the study period.

Our mission is to reduce waste today through innovative resource management and to reach a waste-free tomorrow by demonstrating that waste is preventable, not inevitable.

The participation rate is the number of households who set materials out for recycling collection at least once over the period of the study.

The participation rate is a better indication of overall recycling participation because it includes households that recycle at least once over the course of six weeks, recognizing that some households may not set out recycling every week. It more accurately indicates how many households are participating in the recycling program overall, as opposed to the number of participants on a specific day.

Summary of Process

The study spans six collection weeks. Each time the truck tips a cart, that collection is recorded for that specific address. This data allows us to analyze all collection during a specific study period. The percentage of all addresses in each day's routes that register a tip in a given week is recorded as that week's set out rate, which is then averaged over the course of the study.

The reports are then sorted by address and duplicates are removed for households that set out more than once during the study period. The remaining list of addresses represents all households that participated in recycling at least once during the study, to arrive at the participation rate for the city.
